Dak ready for dip of the ol' paint brush

By Malcolm Uhlman, Greenwood Military Aviation Museum

Douglas Aircraft C47/ DC3 Dakota KN 451 is ready for painting!
A color scheme has been chosen, representing that used by 103 Rescue Unit (now 413 Squadron) - the first post-World War II flying unit based in Greenwood. Painting is expected this year so the aircraft can be on display in the Greenwood Military Aviation Museum's air park during the tourist season.

Painting such a large aircraft is a major project; however, this project is less than that carried out last year on the Argus and will be done inside 10 Hangar, not outdoors.

Skate, ski, sled and more this winter

By Eric MacKenzie, Community Recreation Coordinator

February means the Take the Roof off Winter campaign is underway.
Take the Roof off Winter is Nova Scotia's winter active campaign, designed to help Nova Scotians of all ages improve their quality of life by being outdoors and active this winter. Recreation Nova Scotia partners with the Nova Scotia Department of Health and Wellness to challenge communities, schools, businesses and others to build more physical activity in daily routines.
The 14 Wing Greenwood Community Centre is a registered Take the Roof off Winter supporter and is partnering with the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre to offer a day of snowshoe fun February 1, 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., at the 14 Wing Greenwood Golf Course. This event is a challenge to all defence team members to get active and enjoy an afternoon with their families (designed for all military members, their families, and valid Recreation Card holders).

If you enjoy snowshoeing and you are a valid Recreation Card holder, you can take advantage of some great benefits at the 14 Wing Fitness and Sports Centre. Sports Stores provides cross country ski rentals for free, and you can sign out snowshoes for $2.25 a day, $5.25 for the weekend or $10 for the week. For information, contact Fitness and Sports Centre sports stores at 765-1494 ext. 5106.
The 14 Wing Community Centre is having a winter walk and sledding February 10 from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. for youth ages nine to 12. Bring a sled and winter wear to the centre. After, we'll come back and warm up with hot-chocolate.
Skiing is an excellent way to exercise and have fun, especially as a Take the Roof off Winter Activity. The 14

Restorations are long and, often, difficult tasks, requiring dedicated and knowledgeable volunteers. Fortunately, the Greenwood museum has many such volunteers, allowing for the restorations of two or three projects at a time. Including the Dakota, work is underway on restoring a twin-engine, all-metal, Canadian-built Bristol Bolingbroke and a Sperwer uninhabited air vehicle used in Afghanistan.

The individual team members, who have been working over the last four plus years to bring the Dak project to this point include Eric Welin, team leader, whose RCAF specialty was metal technician working on Daks for 10 years at several Canadian and European stations. He re-mustered to AES Op and served on both coasts in fixed and rotary wing aircraft for the next 28 years.

Chuck Calder began with the Canadian Army, gravitating to aviation and the Air Force as a flight engineer on the Buffalo, Herc, Boeing 707 and Aurora, and was a valuable member of the museum's award-winning Anson Restoration Team. Bob McElman was an RCAF career pilot with a soft spot in his heart for the Dak, an aircraft he flew for more than 800 hours. Bill Flynn was an RCAF "fitter" - an old RAF term for an aero engine tech - who served some of his career as a flight engineer on the Lanc and North Star and is an invaluable museum volunteer who has served on various projects, including the Argus, Lanc and Neptune restoration. Russ Keddy started his working career out of Ottawa, including time over British Guiana, and is an avid aviation history enthusiast who flies remote-control aircraft. Doc McKeil served his first eight years as an aero engine tech on jets and remustered to flight engineer, serving the next 32 years on the twin Huey, Hercules, Challenger and Aurora aircraft. Brian Troniak first served as an airframe tech in the RCAF and later obtained an aircraft engineering degree and taught aircraft maintenance at Confederation College in Thunder Bay, as well as holding other posts in teaching aeronautical engineering. Dave Richards was a navy armourer, a trade which included mechanical training. Following his second career in the electrical trade, Richards had the ability to turn his hand to most any job.

Seeing the value of MP fund for blind youth

Master Corporal
Fred Ferguson,
31 Military Police Flight

Colonel James Riley Stone was the founder of the Military Police Fund for Blind Children (MPFBC), which had its humble beginnings in 1957. Stone was the Canadian Army Provost Marshal (Military Police) when his daughter, Moira, was afflicted with cancer of the eye, resulting in sudden blindness and, subsequently, death. During his daughter's illness, Stone came into contact with organizations struggling to help blind children: there were many other blind children less fortunate than his daughter, unable, through lack of money, to enjoy some of the simpler things in life. Their plight affected him tremendously, and he was determined to help them. He canvassed members of the Military Police, asking them to contribute one or two dollars per year and, using their donations, established a fund to help blind children under age 13 (now children under the age of 21).

As a result of Stone's enthusiasm, the Military Police Fund for Blind Children was established as a not-for-profit corporation, run and managed by Military Police volunteers. It remains unique in Canada as the only military charity in the country. The corporation is run by a board of directors, inclusive of all ranks within the Military Police, which supervises the management of the fund. The objectives of the MPFBC are to aid blind children, primarily, and young blind adults up to the age of 21, and to support charitable organizations and individuals involved in the education and recreation of blind children and young adults.

Members of the Military Police, including other military and civilian community members, become personally involved in fundraising activities. They involve themselves with the blind children, visit their schools and invite them to Canadian Forces bases to learn more about the Canadian military. In every Military Police unit, regardless of size or geographic location, you will find a fund representative, responsible for the coordination of fundraising activities and identifying needy children or organizations.

Recently, the 31 Military Police Flight (31 MP Flt) had the honour of presenting a local family with $5,000 to assist with retrofitting a van with wheelchair accessible equipment required for their son who has multiple disabilities, including visual impairment.

Should you know of a child, military or non-military, who could benefit from the fund, contact the 31 MP Flight fund representative, Master Corporal Fred Ferguson, at Frederick. Ferguson@forces.gc.ca or 765-1494 ext 5111. To learn more about the MPFBC, Stone and his daughter, visit www.mpfbc.com.

Health centre sign of federal commitment

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

Things are on track at 14 Wing Greenwood's new health facility construction site.

The 50,000-square-foot centre is expected to be done by the end of August, with medical staff from three different locations around the base coming together under one roof in the fall. An average of 47 people are on the job daily, even through the winter, putting in about 7,000 man hours every month. Interior work conditions are good, as the site was connected early on to the base's steam heating system. Medical staff members have been visiting every few months since ground was broken to see how the facility is coming together.

"I hope some of the staff will be here when it does open," said West Nova Member of Parliament Greg Kerr on a recent tour, referring to the regular postings that limit the long-term presence of some military staff.

"They were just thrilled to see it started, and they were very involved in the planning – they should be very pleased."

Kerr said the federal government's investment in the Greenwood health centre, part of a $90 million list of upgrades announced for the base a few years ago, including the recently-opened fire hall; is secure, despite looming budget challenges.

"That's a commitment that stands – the timing, I can't speak to," he said, referring specifically to the replacement rink project for the base that has been delayed several times while community options to add a second pad to the project are pursued.

"Government is trying to build the infrastructure stock the military has to work with across the country. It's obvious when troops are overseas what is needed; not as obvi-

Black Canadians' military mark recognized during February

14 Wing Employment Equity Diversity Council

Did you know February is African Heritage Month in Canada?

It originally started as Black History Month when founded in 1926 by Harvard-educated black historian Dr. Carter G. Woodson. In the 1970s, several black organizations and community leaders banded together to promote this concept as a month, from its original week of recognition.

In Nova Scotia, the celebration of Black History Month was initiated in the early 1980s through the efforts of the Black History Month Association. It is now in its second decade, known as African Heritage Month.

African Heritage Month is a time to celebrate the many achievements and contributions of black Canadians, who, throughout history, have done so much to make Canada the culturally diverse, compassionate and prosperous nation we know today. It also presents an opportunity for all to appreciate the richness of our Canadian diversity and its proud black Canadian history.

With roots dating back as far as 1609, black Canadians represent just over two per cent of Canada's total population and 17 per cent of the visible minority population today. The rapid growth of the black population, and other visible minorities, has contributed to Canada's ever changing cultural mosaic.

Did you know during World War I, patriotic black Canadians attempted to join combat units but were rejected on the basis of race and/or colour. They still contributed to the war effort: in 1916, a segregated battalion made up of black Canadians, the No. 2 Construction Battalion, formed and was responsible for the crucial work of building bridges, digging trenches and clearing roads. In World War II, persistent efforts of black Canadians to join the armed forces were rewarded with success, and they went on to serve with distinction in all branches of the military.

The National Defence publication, "For My Country – Black Canadians on the Field of Honour," is available to employees of 14 Wing Greenwood at the Learning & Career Centre library in the Birchall Building, or you can find it at <http://hr.ottawa-hull.mil.ca/dgmp-dgpm/dhrd-ddpd/dkdp/fmc-pmp-eng.asp>. You may also visit these websites for more information on African Heritage Month celebrations around Nova Scotia: <http://www.gov.ns.ca/ANSA/AHM2012.asp> and <http://halifaxpubliclibraries.ca/ahmonth>.

If you are an employee of 14 Wing Greenwood, interested in finding out more about the wing's Combined Advisory Group, contact Rita Jardine at 765-1494 local 5384.

Making the most of winter – safely

Roger I Walsh, CRSP
14 Wing general safety officer

That good old East Coast winter is upon us once more.

For all of us within the beautiful Annapolis Valley and surrounding areas, this time of year provides endless opportunities for outdoor fun and recreation. Snow can bring with it much joy. From the smiling, rosy cheeks of family members making that first winter snowman to the adrenaline rush as we soar down a soft powdery ski hill to that weekend snowmobile run with fellow sled enthusiasts or that game of pond hockey, winter can be a very busy and fun-filled time.

While it is paramount to practice safety all year round, the winter season presents additional risks we sometimes overlook - thus the need for increased vigilance when partaking in your favourite winter outdoor activity or traversing our local road ways.

For those without the luxury of snow blowers, shovelling can be good exercise – but, remember, it can also be a very strenuous exercise as it is hard on the back and the heart. In order to minimize any health and safety risks, you should undertake some warm-up exercises. Don't over-exert yourself. The type of shovel you use is also an important part of the equation. Using a lightweight shovel of 1.5Kg (3lbs) or less with a smaller blade size can make the task at hand more enjoyable and reduce the effort required. For those with powered snow blowers, it is important to keep your equipment in good running order and always follow the manufacturer's safe operating instructions.

Snow and ice significantly increase the danger on roads for both pedestrians and drivers, hence the need to exercise additional caution when travelling this time of year. Reduce vehicle speed and adjust accordingly for ice, snow, slush or that famous, hidden black ice. Ensuring your vehicle is maintained in good winter running condition, and all ice and snow is removed before starting out on the highway, enhance your road safety - and that of others. Keep a well-stocked vehicle emergency kit in your vehicles and ensure any operators have a cellphone for communication in case of an emergency when travelling. Remember: please drive sober.

For those hitting the snowmobile trails, a few facts courtesy of Transport Canada and the Canadian Institute for Health: there are over 700,000 registered sleds and over 161,000 kilometres of dedicated snowmobile trails in Canada. Of all winter sports, snowmobiling can cause some of the most severe injuries.

Young men under 20 suffer 80 per cent of severe snowmobile-related injuries. Each year, on average, 23 Canadians drown while snowmobiling. Nearly all snowmobile drownings happen in the late evening or at night. The Canadian Red Cross recommends ice be at least 25cm (10 inches) for snowmobiling. Alcohol is associated with 75 per cent of all snowmobile accidents. To ensure your safety and that of loved ones while enjoying your snowmobile this season, get trained and check with your local natural resource and law enforcement agencies to ensure your ride is legal and hassle-free. Children should never be allowed to operate a sled unsupervised. Make sure the sleds size and power are appropriate for the age of any child operating it. Wear, and ensure any passengers wear, the appropriate protective gear: goggles, waterproof snowmobile suits, gloves and approved safety helmets. If travelling over lakes and rivers wear approved flotation type clothing. Make sure your let someone know where you are going and never drive alone. Check local weather and trail condition before heading out, and respect private property.

So weather shovelling, driving, or sledding is your favourite winter past time, don't let inattention to safety take the fun out of this season.

Tobacco users and non-users may take part in the challenge. Non-users may register as supporters of members trying to quit.

Participating is easy. Tobacco users must stop using by March 1, and remain tobacco free until at least April 1. They must register at a Strengthening the Forces health promotion office (on bases/ wings across Canada) or on this website from January 18 to midnight February 29.

Once registered, supporters and participants are eligible to win prizes provided by CANEX and SISIP Financial Services, partners of the March 1st, I Quit Challenge. Health promotion teams on every base/ wing will provide support for tobacco users who decide to take this important step in the quitting process by organizing regular activities and providing information kits to everyone who registers.

The goal of the program is to prevent tobacco use-related diseases among Canadian Forces members. The health promotion team recognizes that quitting may require many attempts and entering the March 1st, I Quit! Challenge provides tobacco users another opportunity to succeed.

Register at (DIN) <http://cmp-cpm.forces.mil.ca/health-sante/iquit-jarrete/>

Le 1er mars, J'arrête!

Lisa White,
Bureau de promotion de la santé

Le lancement du défi de 2012 a été le 18 janvier. Nous invitons tous les militaires, consommateurs du tabac et non-consommateurs, les membres de leur famille immédiate, de même que les employés du MDN, des FNP et des CRMF à relever le défi Le 1er mars, j'arrête! et à demeurer non-consommateur du tabac pendant au moins un mois, soit du 1er mars au 1er avril.

Tant les consommateurs du tabac que les non-consommateurs peuvent participer au défi. Les non-consommateurs peuvent s'inscrire à titre de parrains d'une personne qui tente d'arrêter de consommer du tabac.

Pour participer, les consommateurs du tabac doivent cesser d'en consommer d'ici le 1er mars, et demeurer non-consommateur jusqu'au 1er avril au moins. Ils doivent s'inscrire au bureau de la promotion de la santé Énergiser les Forces (qui se trouve dans chaque base ou escadre au Canada) ou sur ce site web du 18 janvier au 29 février 2012 à minuit.

En s'inscrivant au défi, les participants et leurs parrains courent la chance de gagner des prix offerts gracieusement par CANEX et les Services financiers du RARM, partenaires du défi Le 1er mars, j'arrête!

Les équipes de la promotion de la santé de chaque base/ escadre appuieront les consommateurs du tabac qui ont décidé de faire ce pas important vers l'arrêt du tabagisme en organisant périodiquement des activités et en remettant des trousseaux de promotion de la santé d'information à toutes les personnes qui s'inscrivent.

Le programme a pour but de prévenir les maladies liées à l'usage du tabac parmi les membres des FC. L'équipe de la promotion de la santé reconnaît qu'on peut difficilement arrêter de consommer le tabac du jour au lendemain et que le défi « Le 1er mars, j'arrête! » donne une autre chance aux consommateurs de renoncer au tabac.

Can't touch this!

14 Wing explosives safety team

The C2A1 Marker Location Marine (MLM) is a buoyant smoke and flame-producing device used by ships and aircrafts as a positional marker on the water surface. When dropped into the water, they give off large clouds of dense smoke and burn violently for up to 20 minutes, making them an excellent location marker for day and night. MLMs are frequently used during search and rescue operations and training exercises.

The MLM is designed to sink to the ocean floor after it has been expended; however, a small number of MLMs do not completely burn off and remain afloat. Periodically, members of the public find an MLM that has washed ashore. MLMs pose a potential hazard that must be taken seriously. If you find an MLM, do not touch it! Leave it where it is, mark the location and call the nearest Canadian Forces Base or the RCMP, and a person trained in the handling and disposal of unexploded ordnance will come and retrieve the MLM.

What does an MLM look like? The MLM is unpainted natural aluminum in colour, 47 centimetres in length, a diameter of 7.6 cm and weighs 1.7 kilograms. It may have a green band on the forward end with "CCC" written in white letters. The MLM is also labelled with clear hazard warnings and instructions to contact police or military.

Handling the MLM could result in very serious burns. The MLM contains phosphorous, a compound that burns at an extremely high temperature. Chances are, if the MLM has washed up on shore or a place that you can find it, the MLM has not completely burned off and, therefore, could possibly reignite.

Don't attempt to take the MLM to local authorities. The MLM should not be placed in any confined spaces, including a vehicle, because it could reignite and cause a serious fire. Driving with an MLM in your vehicle puts yourself and other motorists around you at risk. The motion of the vehicle could jar the MLM, making it reignite and start a vehicle fire.

Q&A on remembrance February 9 in Kingston

In 1995, a Royal Canadian Legion pilgrimage to Holland celebrated the 50th anniversary of VE Day. Valley comrades Vic Barnes, David Blanchard, Hans Budgey, Bob Church, Clay Church, Robbins Elliott, Brent Fox, Kevin Lake, Keith Marr, Tom Rissesso and Terry Thomas represented the hundreds of veterans who make up the membership of local Legion branches.

Attending the events in Holland, the group was amazed at the knowledge expressed by the children of Holland in regards to the liberation of their country by Canadian troops so many years ago.

Upon returning home, Valley veterans decided to give local youth the opportunity to learn more about Canadian military history, including the contributions and sacrifices of its citizens and the achievements of the Canadian Forces. They developed a quiz style event, based on the former "Reach for the Top" school program. November 2, 1995 seven branches in the Annapolis Valley successfully presented an all-day knockout quiz program in Windsor; in that first year, seven junior high schools with students from grades 8 and 9 were represented in the competition. With the success of this first quiz, it was decided to host it again in 1996, and the competition has since continued each year.

Students enrolled in grades 7, 8 and 9 at the start of the school year, and continuously enrolled, are eligible. In areas where a middle school is in place, Grade 6 students may participate.

It has been the pleasure of the Legions to work in cooperation with the Annapolis Valley Regional School Board and all the school staff who make this quiz an informative and pleasant experience for all involved.

The next Call to Remembrance event will be hosted by Branch 098 in Kingston February 9, with a start time of 8 a.m. (storm date February 10). The public is encouraged to attend and see what these youth have learned about our country's role in shaping world history. For information, visit www.kingstonlegion.com.

Animal care agency needs volunteers

Companion Animal Protection Society is proclaiming 2012 to be its "Year of the CAPS Volunteer."

In a world where the value of volunteerism is become increasingly vital, CAPS offers some exciting volunteer opportunities. CAPS gives people who love animals a chance to make a significant difference in the lives of these animals - and their own. If you have a heart for animals in need, whether you are 13 or 93, we have many ways for you to get involved.

CAPS urgently requires foster homes for both cats and dogs. Without a safe, loving, place to call home until they are adopted, many little animals will not get a second chance. CAPS also needs animal care volunteers to help with daily chores at its largest foster homes. Can you commit to a morning, afternoon or evening a week to make a difference?

We try to match our team members with avenues of service that will be most fitting and fulfilling for their personalities, lifestyle, talents and training: cuddler, groomer, rolling change, animal transportation, pet photography, fundraising, info, ticket table worker, event volunteer, clerical work, folding laundry, pet food/supplies organizer. Many small jobs demand only a few hours of your time on a relaxed schedule that fits your lifestyle.

Check out www.caps-annapolis.org to learn how you can really make a difference to the Companion Animal Protection Society and to the homeless companion animals of Annapolis County. Email info@caps-annapolis.org, or call 825-2277.

Read up on better health

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

No kickin' back with a good book this month!

The 14 Wing Greenwood Library has a special collection of health and fitness material to get you moving, including new pedometers and walking program guides.

"It's all about getting healthy," says librarian Judy McCool. "While you're doing that, reading can be incorporated as a mental health help - it's a stress relief, relaxing and you use your own imagination."

The new pedometers come from the Heart & Stroke Foun-

Judy McCool says sneakers and reading can work side by side for better health: enjoying a good book means you're relaxed and ready for the next step to a general improvement in your life.

...ation, and borrowing them for a three-week period also gets you a Walkabout log book so you can track your steps, and also learn more about the benefits of walking. McCool is already looking ahead to spring, and perhaps organizing a group walking program from the library on a regular basis.

"A lot of our visitors already walk here when they come to borrow books, so that could be a natural."

While walking is one of the easiest physical activities you can pick up, the library offers a diverse collection of health and fitness resource material, from nutrition, diets and cookbooks to guides on weightlifting, yoga, senior fitness and raising healthy kids.

"This whole collection sees a lot of interest from library visitors, and we keep it diverse," she says. Trends or fads aren't ruled out: McCool says if people are interested in what's new, the library does its best to offer the information.

Make the choice, change for a green community

Annapolis Valley Green Community is a home-grown effort to create a green and sustainable community. That means planning and providing for a healthy environment, economy and community. It means ensuring our quality of life is preserved: for us, for our children and for generations to come. It means thinking globally, but acting locally. Our lifestyle is dependent on using energy and natural resources which can stress the earth and our local environment. By taking control of our community's future and planning for sustainable development, we can help conserve the natural resources we enjoy today, while improving our community for future generations. As a not-for-profit community organization, we encourage involvement from all members of our diverse community, from families to college students, business owners to municipal workers and everyone in between. We want to establish ourselves as a "green" role-model. There are many initiatives we will be working on to establish a sustainable community including root cellars, gardens and composting, canning and preserving, establishing a food cooperative with local farmers and suppliers, co-ops to leverage lower prices for sustainable changes such as low flush toilets, LED lightbulbs etc.; a community green car, organic school gardens, the establishment of a public bike system and easy solar solutions to save electricity bills.

Equip yourself with ideas for simple and small changes that make a big difference. To share your ideas and skills, and to take direct action on sustainable community projects, call Heather, 765-8705.

Golden Oldies – in the pink

Lloyd E. Graham
& Sara Keddy

The Greenwood Golden Oldies, a men's 50 and over hockey team, love the game, are dedicated to making the sport fun – and dedicate much of their on-ice effort to charity.

Besides playing two or three times a week, the Golden Oldies sponsor three hockey tournaments three times a year. From January 20 to 22, the Golden Oldies and Greenwood Gardens hosted eight teams -the Greenwood Raiders, Kentville "Wildcats", Yarmouth Southwesters, Wolfville Valley Devils, Kingston/ Greenwood MidValley, Berwick and Windsor. All but the Raiders, the all-female 14 Wing Greenwood team, were in the over 50 category.

To kick off the tournament, the Oldies received a donation of pink sweaters from Scotiabank, which prompted the team's organizing committee to focus on the Canadian Cancer Society as the tournament charity; specifically, The Lodge That Gives in Halifax, where the society offers support and accommodation to cancer patients and family members in the city for treatment. Cancer patients stay free of charge and meals are provided at no cost. Those accompanying a patient pay a small daily rate for their room and meals. Local cancer society volunteer Lloyd Graham dropped the opening puck for the game between the Greenwood Raiders and the Oldies. What started off as a $250 donation from the Oldies grew during the course of the tournament and, before the last whistle and the trophies were awarded, Graham accepted a combined donation of $1,000.

Jerry Meade kicked in the last 80 cents needed to hit the $1,000 mark.

"Teams – every one – said they'd donate."

The opening game between the Oldies and the Raiders ended in a 5-5 tie, and Meade said the women gave the men a run for their money.

"The Raiders – they have a good team."

All the teams had three games scheduled in the ensuing round robin, and Meade said things were going well - until the last game before the Sunday final.

"Berwick lost one to Windsor, beat Greenwood and then played the Valley Devils, who'd lost both their games. The Devils were beating Berwick 6-4, and Berwick pulled its goal tender. The Devils then made it 7-4 and took Berwick out."

Berwick didn't realize, even with a 6-4 loss, they'd have still made the final on accumulated goals. The extra Devils' goal spelled disaster.

Meade says it was a then big surprise to his Greenwood players to get a late night call to be on deck for the final the next day. They'd played their three games and gone home.

"Everyone had passed in their sweaters, and we had to call 'em all up again!"

Greenwood actually borrowed two players from Yarmouth to ice a team in the finals, only to lose to Windsor in the over-50 division. Kentville won the over-60 title.

Bobby Holmes, Dave Kennedy and Meade co-founded the Golden Oldies in 1993 and share great pride in how it has evolved. At 78, Holmes is the most senior member of the 30-man team, with players who drive from Yarmouth and Windsor for regular games and practices. Players have come from all across Canada to participate in their tournaments, but the teams are mainly from Atlantic Canada and represent our youth, the over 50s and those over 60 years old. The COHA rules prevail, except for five rules from the Golden Oldies "underground rules committee," which mainly address extra safety and conduct. Check out <http://greenwoodgoldenoldie.tripod.com/> (you'll be greeted by their theme song, "I Don't Need No Rockin' Chair"). There are plans for another seniors' tournament in February in Berwick, another chance to bring out the pink sweaters.

Special Olympians working on high scores

Pat Nixon,
Kings Special Olympics
assistant coach

The first half of the Kings Special Olympics bowling year is over and everyone has had a great time - and the bowling averages are certainly improving.

The athletes enjoyed a small "festive" get together on their last night of bowling December 15, where they enjoyed seasonal snacks and exchanged gifts. Everyone was set to begin the New Year January 12 but, due to weather conditions, the evening's bowling was cancelled.

The following are the present top three athletes in the male and female divisions: men's high average: Danny 157, Rory 137 and Nathan at 136; women's high average: Genna at 128, Sue at 119 and Tara at 115; men's high single, Danny at 210; women's high single, Sue at 171.

One of our bowlers, Annette McCann, is also a champion at snowshoeing and will be representing Nova Scotia at the upcoming 2012 Canadian Special Olympics Winter Games in St. Albert, Alberta Feb 28 to March 3. She has been diligently practicing and improving her conditioning in readiness for the competition. We wish her all the best as she represents Nova Scotia and the Kings Special Olympics organization.

We encourage you to visit www.sons.ca for information on the Winter Games and Special Olympics in general.

Ready to 'rock'

14 Wing Greenwood hosts the 25th annual Communications and Electronics (C&E) curling bonspiel February 8 through 11.

CFSCE (Kingston) and 742 Squadron (Edmonton) will also be hosting curling bonspiels under the aegis of Ex Jimmy Rocks. Ex Jimmy Rocks is a truly national event. In the words of Chief Warrant Officer Dinelle, C&E branch

CWO, "Jimmy Rocks is an opportunity for fellowship and camaraderie for all members of our branch and community. Retired branch members are a very important link in our community and are most definitely welcomed."

The fun format starts February 8 with one or two professional development sessions, followed by an evening meet-and-greet at the Annapolis

Mess. Formal registration is at the Back Bar from 1 p.m. onwards. 14 Wing's annual event has attracted an average of 30 teams - over 100 participants, including commercial sponsors. One such team is Major King's Jimmy Rum Runners, challenging 14 WTISS Flights.

The first rock will be thrown by Colonel Dufour February 9 at 8 a.m. at the Greenwood Gardens. The final game

Get set for family ski fun

Get ready to hit the slopes February 25, from noon to 7 p.m.

The 14 Wing Greenwood Community Centre is organizing a family trip to Ski Martock, where you can ski down-hill, cross country or snowboard. We will leave the centre at noon sharp. At 6 p.m., we will return to the bus, stop for a quick bite at Tim Horton's and then return to Greenwood.

The rates for down-hill skiing are: $25 for pass, equipment and lesson; $15 for pass and lesson, $15 for equipment and lesson and only $5 for a helmet rental. For cross country skiing, rates are $13 for pass, equipment and lesson; $8 for pass and lesson, $8 for equipment

Bowler Annette McCann will also be competing in snowshoeing as part of the Nova Scotia team heading to the 2012 Canadian Special Olympics Winter Games. Submitted

Greenwood Golf ready for the season

While it looks like winter, the 2012 golf season is quickly approaching and 14 Wing Greenwood Golf Club members can hardly wait to get onto the course.

The 2012 season will be the "year of the member," with the focus on member loyalty. There are some great promotions planned, starting with a member signing bonus as a way to say thank you to members for support over the years. If you sign up for the 2012 season before April 30, you will receive a 10 per cent discount off adult, spousal, senior or weekday membership fees.

Members also have the opportunity to spread their fees over seven months, from April to October. Come out early to take advantage of the payment plan: start your plan in April (sign up by March 13) and take advantage of the maximum number of months to spread out your fees. You could be a member for as little as $82.92 a month.

The junior membership rate includes the junior program, which is getting a complete overhaul for the upcoming season, with Tamara Stephen taking on the program.

Greenwood is one of the few clubs that offers a special spousal rate, as well as a seniors and weekday rate. There are plenty of parking spots for new members with their own power cart. Cart parking rates are among the best in the local area.

In keeping with the member loyalty theme, Greenwood will also have a promotion running in the pro shop and kitchen, with buy 10, get one free cards. Watch for more special events throughout the season for members.

The Greenwood club offers many options when it comes to memberships and power cart plans, so call the office at 765-1494 ext 5880 and ask for Karen. The golf club office will be open weekdays beginning February 20 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to start taking memberships. Rates for the season can be found at www.greenwoodgolfclub.ca.

Construction d'un nouveau terrain de jeu pour le centre communautaire

Dans le cadre du projet de GC Ere concernant la construction d'un nouveau terrain de jeu pour le centre communautaire, veuillez noter que le terrain de jeu situé près des piscines extérieures est fermé en raison de travaux de construction. Afin d'assurer la sécurité de tous, on demande aux parents de dire à leurs enfants de ne pas utiliser le terrain de jeu durant la période de construction. Le projet devrait se terminer en juin.

County's quiz will define future recreation, activity programs

Between February 1 and 13, Kings County residents may be contacted to participate in a recreation and physical fitness survey. Questions will be asked about physical activity levels, community walkability, satisfaction with local recreation services, programs and facilities, and user fees for recreation services. The county is working on a Kings County Municipal Physical Activity Strategy, to be completed in 2012, through a five-year Municipal Physical Activity Leadership Program agreement with Nova Scotia. The survey, as well as future public consultation meetings in the spring, will help develop a strategy that best reflects the interests of county residents. The telephone survey of 300 Kings County residents is being conducted by Ipsos Reid. Households with children or youth between the ages of two and 17 will be asked about their children's activity levels. The county encourages residents to participate in the survey. It will only take a few minutes to complete and it will help provide accurate information on this initiative for staff and council as they work to increase the physical activity levels and the health of residents.

Preparing for deployment? Let us know!

Amy Snow,
GMFRC coordinator of deployment services

Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre staff want to provide you and your family with the best possible support services and activities during your "family separation."

In order to tailor our services to meet the unique needs of your family, it is helpful to know of any special situations or extraordinary circumstances that may occur during your deployment. For example, if a spouse is pregnant during the deployment, if there are any illnesses or medical procedures, such as surgeries, occurring during that time for any member of the family; or if the family at home may be relocating to be with family at a different address during the deployment.

Sharing this information with deployment services can help us better support your family in your absence. We can help you and your family design a deployment plan to prepare and handle any special circumstances, we can help you get in touch with community professionals and organizations in the area, we can tailor our services, such as warm line calls, outreach mail and our deployment activities, to meet the unique needs of family at home. If your family is relocating to a different address during the deployment, we can make a referral to the nearest wing or base so they can continue to receive deployment support and services in that location.

There are many ways to pass this important information to deployment services. One way is to complete the section, Special Considerations and/or Assistance Required for your Family During your Deployment, on the Pre Deployment Family Information Form; another way is a quick email or call to Amy Snow, coordinator of deployment services, or you could drop in for a visit prior to your deployment.

If a situation occurs on short notice during a deployment, the GMFRC is just a call away and, together, we will do everything possible to help you and your family through your deployment.

Est-ce que vous vous préparez pour un déploiement ? Si oui, laissez-nous savoir

Amy Snow,
Coordonnatrice des services de déploiement du CRFMG

Le personnel du CRFMG veut offrir à vous et à votre famille le meilleur soutien possible, lorsque les membres de la famille sont séparés les uns des autres.

Pour être en mesure d'adapter nos services aux besoins particuliers de votre famille, il est bon d'être au courant de situations spéciales (une grossesse, une maladie, un acte médical tel qu'une intervention chirurgicale, par exemple) ou de circonstances exceptionnelles possibles (la famille emménage chez la parenté, par exemple) pendant que vous serez déployé au loin.

La communication de cette information aux services de déploiement nous permettrait de mieux soutenir votre famille pendant votre absence. Nous pouvons vous aider à établir des plans en cas de situations exceptionnelles, nous pouvons vous mettre en relation avec des professionnels et des organismes communautaires dans la région, nous pouvons adapter nos services : appels de réconfort, correspondance et autres services de soutien en période de déploiement, en fonction de l'horaire particulier de votre famille. Finalement, lorsque votre famille habite sous un autre toit pour la durée de votre absence, il est possible de confier le dossier à l'escadre ou à la base la plus près de sa nouvelle adresse de sorte qu'elle sera en mesure de recevoir soutien et services à cet endroit.

Il y a bien des façons de communiquer cette information importante aux Services de déploiement : vous remplissez la section appropriée du formulaire de renseignements sur la famille avant le déploiement; vous expédiez un bref courriel ou téléphonez à la coordonnatrice des services de déploiement, Amy Snow; vous vous présentez au Centre pour nous rencontrer avant votre départ. En cas d'imprévu pendant votre absence, il vous suffit de nous téléphoner et nous ferons tout notre possible pour vous aider.

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Cancer, your trusting nature will pay dividends for all those around you this week, including yourself. Friends and family will appreciate your reliability.

Draw results

A 50/50 draw by Greenwood Minor Hockey in December sent one lucky winner, Kerri Brown, home with $1,262. Tickets were sold by all the members of Greenwood Minor Hockey, as well as Scotiabank Greenwood staff, in the month leading up to the draw. Bank staff also sold tickets during games at the rink, and invited players to the branch and to sell tickets. The funds raised help keep hockey registration costs down for association players.
