MFRC birthday marks strengths, success

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

Keeping the kids' fingers out of the icing of the birthday cake was about the only problem on the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre's horizon January 23.

And that was just fine, as the anniversary marks 29 years of success building strengths between the military, families and the wider community.

"Every time I hear, 'I need to find a new family doctor,' or, 'Our community is deploying 100 people,' we're in the position now to be able to respond," said Margaret Reid, director of the MFRC. "That came from everyone involved in working to build the MFRC – every person that comes through the door has had a role to play."

MFRC volunteer board secretary Angie Publicover said it was an honour for her and son Zachary to come to the party, representing her board peers.

"We're all really enjoying the programs, and working and playing alongside so many people," Publicover said.

Reid said, while the 29th anniversary is something to celebrate, everyone at the MFRC is looking ahead to next year's 30th anniversary.

"I've had the good fortune to be here for 20 of the 29 years, and the changes I've seen in the MFRC movement, with the military and community involvement in families – we're very excited for the years ahead."

Op Impact progress 'will take time'

Lieutenant-General Jon Vance, Commander Canadian Joint Operations Command, led a technical briefing January 19, providing the latest news on Operation Impact, the Canadian Armed Forces' role in the multi-national effort to combat the Islamic State of Iraq and Levant (ISIL) in Iraq.

"This is being accomplished in stages," Vance said. "First we responded to Iraq's call for aid. We then stopped and contained ISIL, forcing them into defensive posture. Now we are degrading them. During the simultaneous and upcoming stages, the idea will be to train, advise and assist the Iraqi security forces so they can return to strength, combat ISIL and, at the end of the day, look after their own security."

To date, the coalition has conducted more than 900 air strikes in Iraq and has struck targets such as equipment vehicles and other resources. Continued on page 2...

Quick action saves teen

Corporal Mathieu Gaudreault, 14 Wing Photojournalist

Two 14 Wing Greenwood personnel were recognized in Halifax January 15 for emergency actions they took while on a deployment last fall.

October 6, Corporal Christopher Cashen and Master Corporal Eric Marin were in the Dutch Antilles for work. When they arrived at their hotel pool to meet with other crewmembers, a female teenager had just been dragged from the water after nearly drowning. They quickly identified themselves as first aiders and offered assistance.

The teen began convulsing in a chair, struggling to breathe. A large crowd was surrounding the girl, but were only calling for help. While Marin exerted positive control over the crowd to keep down the panic level, Cashen immediately placed the now unconscious girl flat on the floor and in the recovery position, allowing water to drain from her lungs. She did regain consciousness but, shortly thereafter, started hyperventilating and went into shock. Marin ran to his hotel room to get a fire blanket and they immediately treated her for these conditions. Cashen and Marin instructed another hotel

They remained calm and methodical throughout this dynamic event. Once attended to by paramedics, the immediate family of the victim was extremely grateful and thanked Cashen and Marin for saving their loved one's life. Without their quick intervention, pro-es, everything from enemy fighting positions, weapons, buildings to store weapons and IEDs. Canada has 625 members deployed as part of Operation Impact. Canadian aircraft, including long range patrol CP140M Auroras from 14 Wing Greenwood, have flown a total of 375 sorties (as of January 22): CF18s have conducted 28 air strikes through 242 sorties, Auroras have conducted 69 intelligence reconnaissance and surveillance missions as well as battle damage assessments to confirm the effectiveness of coalition air strikes, and CC150T Polaris aerial refuelers have conducted 64 sorties, delivering some 3.5 million pounds of fuel to coalition aircraft.

Canadian staff officers are also fully integrated in the coalition headquarters and participate in the decision making and planning processes.

"ISIL will continue to contest our efforts," Vance said. "It won't be an easy fight, and much remains to be done from an instruction and assistance standpoint before major strides can be made.

"Long term success rests on the government and the people of Iraq. It will also require the coalition to bring to bear all elements of power, as well as military effects. We will see more gains as the coalition members arrive, as the effects of the air strength are felt and as the government-wide aspect of the mission takes shape. We have stopped ISIL's advance. We are seeing indications of progress. Future success will take time."

Sneak peek at carnival fun February 6

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

A quick “firecracker” of an event will wake 14 Wing Greenwood personnel up February 6 to the upcoming Winter Carnival week.

Carnival co-organizer Captain David Penney has taken a pre-pep rally teaser event under his wing, to take place February 6 in the Annapolis Mess’ Back Bar.

“We’ll award the first points of the carnival, we’ll sell the carnival key chains – and give everyone a visual hint of what’s to come,” Penney says.

The base’s annual winter week of fun is officially February 17 through 21, with hockey, curling, indoor recreation challenges, family activities and more planned, all around this year’s theme, “Ancient Civilizations.” Six teams representing various wing squadrons and units are getting set for competition as Vikings, Romans, Egyptians and others. The February 13 pep rally will kick off events.

Penney intends to jump up on the Back Bar’s stage and invite team representatives to compete in a “stand-up Twister, kind of a musical chairs firecracker of an event – just short,” he says, “but we’ll see what kind of knots we can get everyone into!”

A full schedule of Winter Carnival events will be available February 9, heading into the February 13 pep rally and the February 17 week of fun and games. In the meantime, team representatives will be working on filling rosters for everything from darts to an Amazing Race, and ice painting artistic teams to “float” decorators.

Winter Carnival 2015 key chains are now available for $10 each from team representatives, giving holders

Sara Keddy,
Managing editor

One young man at the beginning of his career; a number recognized for up to 35 years' service to the Canadian Armed Forces.

14 Wing Greenwood Commander Colonel Iain Huddleston presided over a quarterly honours and awards afternoon January 20 at the Annapolis Mess, where operational medals and commendations were presented, along with long service awards.

"As per usual, we get to recognize the great work our people are doing – in the last quarter, and in the last 35 years," Huddleston said.

He was pleased to present a Commissioning Scroll to Lieutenant Gabriel Lafrance Robineau.

"We're often remiss in paying just dues to those who receive the Canadian Decoration, at the various gates it is presented: 12 years, 22 years and 32 years. Not that many Canadians have the right to wear a CD2 on their chests – or have made that commitment."

Canadian Forces Decoration 2nd Clasp awards were presented to Sergeant Murray Barrie, Captain Timothy Blakesley, Warrant Officer David Chevalier, Major Gordon Colwell, Major Mike Deutsch, Warrant Officer Calvin Dort, Warrant Officer Wayne Gray, Master Corporal Karen Karasz, Master Corporal Michael Kelly, Master Corporal Brian McNeil, Sergeant Bertram Power, Captain Simon Pye, Master Corporal Robbert Webber, Corporal Wilton, and Captain Mark Woodworth.

Flight safety visits chance to review RCAF priorities

The annual Director of Flight Safety (DFS) briefings and visit to 14 Wing Greenwood by the DFS Colonel Charpentier and CWO Labrie will take place February 18 to 20. This visit is the highlight of the flight safety year, as it allows DFS to meet with 14 Wing personnel and deliver a series of educational flight safety presentations.

Flight safety is an ongoing process all members of 14 Wing are responsible to maintain. The safe conduct of flying operations, support to flying operations and prevention of accidental losses of personnel and aviation resources remain essential elements of our operational effectiveness.

As in previous years, the DFS briefings will review the past year's significant incidents and accidents, providing some analysis of trends and highlighting concerns in flying operations. This annual visit to the wing is an opportunity for 14 Wing personnel to learn of flight safety issues concerning 14 Wing, and across the Royal Canadian Air Force.

14 Wing Commander Colonel Iain Huddleston and Wing Flight Safety Officer Major J.P. Ouellet encourage all personnel to attend one of the briefings and meet the DFS team. DFS will provide four separate briefs, all at the Birchall Theatre: February 18, 1:30 p.m.; February 19, 7:45 a.m. and 10 a.m.; and February 20, 7:45 a.m. Note: there are only 180 seats available per briefing.

Further information may be obtained from the Wing Flight Safety office, 902-765-1494 local 3679, 3749 or 3732.

Calling artists, innovators, and creative thinkers!!!
We're looking for ideas!
Prize of $500 for the winning idea!

Kings County's Race Relations and Anti-Discrimination Committee (RRADC) is looking for your ideas to inform the development of a public art piece to demonstrate Kings County's commitment to addressing racism and discrimination.

This work is part of the implementation of our Action Plan for Eliminating Racism and Discrimination in the Municipality of the County of Kings (<http://goo.gl/D3412J>), and is funded with support from the Nova Scotia Department of Communities, Culture & Heritage. The Action Plan is a strategic plan that was developed with the community and approved unanimously by Council in 2012. It lays out steps for building a welcoming, educated, engaged, and committed community in Kings County, where racism and discrimination are addressed.

In May of 2010, the RRADC asked for the help of our local grades 1, 2, and 3 students to design a logo for our committee. We were amazed at how many talented young artists we had in our community. Ultimately, the committee chose a wonderful logo designed by Abby Benjamin of Aldershot Elementary School (see the hands logo above). Abby's logo has been a symbol of inclusivity in Kings County since 2010 and has been enjoyed by our citizens both young and old. We hope there are more people like Abby out there to help us with this new project.

In May of 2014, after collecting stories from people in groups who experience racism and discrimination, visiting community and leadership development students from the University of Kentucky recommended the creation of a public art piece that everyone can participate in, a 'billboard' of community members' support for unity, and for ending racism and discrimination to be displayed for all of Kings County to see.

The University of Kentucky students suggested that we set up a giant piece of barn wood at various locations in Kings County over a month-long period, and invite citizens of Kings County to place a handprint of paint on the board to show support for addressing racism and discrimination.

Now we are looking for your ideas for developing the public art piece. We would like to:

- Design a process that engages as many citizens and organizations as possible
- Build on the handprint logo if possible
- Connect people to the commitments in the Action Plan
- Fosters a sense of ownership of the Action Plan, and addressing racism and discrimination
- Create something that becomes a recognizable symbol across Kings County for addressing racism and discrimination, and can be adapted to print and multi-media formats and used widely

The idea we select will be implemented in March. We must be able to implement the community engagement process and develop the original piece at a cost of no more than $4,000.

We are wide open to ideas, so don't be shy! Anything is possible, provided it addresses our objectives above.

Ideas must be submitted by February 13, 2015 to Chris Moore (cmoore@county.kings.ns.ca). Please include:

- A detailed description of what the art piece could look like
- A detailed description of the process and timelines for engaging a wide range of community members and organizations in creating the art piece
- A budget for implementing your idea

If we select your idea, you will win an award of $500. We will talk with the winning artist/innovator/creative thinker about being involved in the process of creating the art piece, as appropriate.

If you have questions, please contact:

All hail the haggis

Guests gathered January 24 at 14 Wing Greenwood's Annapolis Mess to mark the late and much-celebrated Robbie Burns' birthday January 25. All the Highland trappings – poems, haggis, dancers, kilts and pipes – were included in the celebration.

The 14 Wing Pipes and Drums highlighted the evening's musical entertainers.

The laird for the night was Colonel (retired) John Cody, seen here giving the toast to the haggis.

The evening's musicians, all from Nova Scotia, were in fine form. The ensemble featured Cassie MacDonald, fiddle; Rachel Davis, fiddle; and Mary Beth Carty, guitar/ vocals.
