Winnipeg drivers should keep an eye out for this Ford Escape a la Avro CF105 Arrow. CanMilAir Decals

Retired major Bob Johnson is already attached with his Starfighter-decaled Kia, done up as the last model of the aircraft he started in 1986, from an Italian runway. He'll drive the car through to 2024, the 100th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Air Force. S. White

Is it a plane? No, but 2024 decal challenge catching military aviation buffs' imagination

Sara White,
Managing editor

Major (retired) Bob Johnson was "man one" on the start of CF104 Starfighter 891 as it left the Italian runway in March 1986 for Turkey, part of the sale of the fleet from Canada to Turkey as it was replaced with the F18.

"I was an aerospace technician, and I enjoyed working on the Starfighter – 891 was the last one I started, so it is of sentimental value."

Today, he can start a "pretty close" version of AC 891 up in his own Greenwood driveway and drive about town: his grey Kia Soul is now replica-decaled as that aircraft, with RCAF numbering and lettering, a roundel, Canadian markings and even ejection seat stickers on his front exterior doors (although his neighbourhood travels shouldn't be as dramatic as flying what was once called "the world's largest lawn dart," "missile with a man in it" or "widow maker").

"We lost a lot – when you defy the laws of gravity, things happen," Johnson says of the Starfighter, adding details about a "not typical or approved" maneuver pulled by the captain piloting AC 891 that 1986 day.

"On take-off, he told us to watch. The 104 had tip tanks and underwing tanks. He got that aircraft off the ground, snapped the gear up and rolled the aircraft on liftoff with full fuel tanks. It caught all of us off guard! That was his last time flying the Starfighter, too."

2024 marks the 100th anniversary of the Royal Canadian Air Force, already on the radar of the RCAF – and veterans just like Johnson. He's joined a group of military heritage hobbyists to start looking ahead.

"We're starting a trend and gathering steam for the anniversary – a bunch of us are doing up our cars as heritage aircraft. People who know the Starfighter will see it in my car."

Bill Burns at CanMilAir Decals, based in London, Ontario; has been helping with the project: he can take your every-day vehicle, compare it to the RCAF aircraft you may have in mind, and superimpose the markings on your car. He's already done an Avro Arrow CF105 onto a

Bill Burn's Dodge "EF101B" Challenger, done up for the 100th anniversary of the RCAF in 2024. CanMilAir Decals white Ford Escape, and an EF101 Voodoo onto both a Harley Davidson and his own Dodge Challenger. Johnson is also aware of a yellow motorcycle on its way to becoming a search and rescue Cormorant helicopter.

"We'll be driving around, just trying to get community interest in air force history, especially with the upcoming centenary. We went historical, and it would be awesome to see current air force members do today's aircraft. ✈️"

Larry Burbidge, his 1976 Porsche 911 Carrera, and the aircraft that helped ruin the Porsche factory in Stuttgart, Germany, in 1944.

High-powered, high-performance German auto tech highlights museum's September 3 Porsche Palooza

Dave Saulnier, Greenwood Military Aviation Museum Society

Caffeine and octane will be coursing through the Greenwood Military Aviation Museum's arteries once again, as the last of this summer's Cars & Coffee Cruise-In September 3 features Porsches on the grounds, among the museum's 11 outdoor aircraft.

Of course, German machinery wasn't always welcome on our shores: Avro Lancasters, similar to the museum's own Gutless Gert, took part in many raids on Porsche's hometown of Stuttgart throughout the Second World War, severely damaging the factory in 1944. Nearly 80 years later, we can be thankful Ferdinand Porsche wasn't easily discouraged.

Local Porscheophile Larry Burbidge's 1976 3.0 litre 911 Carrera is just the sort of rolling artwork that would never have come into existence if the raids had been too successful. Nor would the other half-dozen models you can expect to see at the museum's airpark between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. Saturday, September 3. Porsche Club of America members will be bringing their 356s, 914s, 924s, 928s, and 944s for you to ogle. And, while Porsches will be the highlight of the Cruise-In, all other special interest makes and models are welcome to join in - the more the merrier!

This modified 3.0 litre air-cooled flat six cylinder engine produces about 220HP - or about one horsepower for every 10 pounds of steel.

Entrance to the museum grounds and the air-conditioned museum is always free, as will be tours of several aircraft. Free coffee, graciously provided by CANEX, will be available and the Greenwood Military Family Resource Centre will be barbecuing sausages, hamburgers and hotdogs for a modest fee. The CANEX and museum gift shop will also be open to shopping for everyone. Be sure to mark your calendars for Labour Day Saturday, and make a trip to Greenwood for an afternoon among some of Germany's finest sports cars, local antique and classic cars, and the best collection of aviation artefacts in the province. By all means, if you would like give back to your community, introduce yourself to our museum staff for more information on how you can contribute to any one of the museum's volunteer teams.

Summer SAR calls continue

August 11, the Halifax Joint Rescue Coordination Centre tasked 14 Wing Greenwood's 413 (Transport and Rescue) Squadron to dispatch Hercules Rescue 343 to provide top cover for a Gander-based Cormorant in response to a medevac off the fishing vessel SeaSurfer, approximately 160 nautical miles southeast of St. John's. The Hercules returned to Greenwood just before 2 p.m.

The Hercules was immediately re-tasked, with a Greenwood Cormorant, Rescue 905, to extract an individual from the fishing vessel Newfoundland Victor, 200 nautical miles northeast of Kuujuaq, Quebec. The Cormorant stopped in Goose Bay to refuel, prior to continuing on task. R343 refueling in Greenwood, and picked up slash crew, leaving Greenwood just after 2 p.m. By 6:30 p.m., the Cormorant was on scene, undertaking the medevac, with R343 providing top cover until it was stood down due to weather, the position of the vessel and confirmation of nil requirement for support from R905. The Cormorant, with the patient, stopped in Nain for fuel and headed for Goose Bay and transfer to local health services, just before midnight.

August 12, at 2 p.m. JRCC tasked Cormorant R901 for a medevac of a 68-year-old woman with a suspected stroke from the cruise ship Zaandam, off the south shore of Nova Scotia. The helicopter was en route within 40 minutes and, by 4:30 p.m., has transported the woman to health services in Yarmouth.

August 12, R901 conducted a medevac of a vessel in the vicinity of Clark's Harbour, successfully transporting the patient to an ambulance in Yarmouth and returning to Greenwood just after 5 p.m.

August 22, just after 8 a.m., Cormorant Rescue 905 was in the air, tasked to investigate an EPIRB activation in the Northumberland Strait, 40 nautical miles north of Moncton. Hercules Rescue 332 launched just after 9 a.m., as R905 was arriving on scene. Both aircraft searched the area, with no indication of distress located. Assets were stood down at 1:30 p.m.

Jubilee medal for Mitchell

August 4, Chief Warrant Officer (retired) Keith Mitchell, Tupper Lake, Kings County, right; was among more than 60 Nova Scotians awarded Queen Elizabeth II's Platinum Jubilee Medal in recognition of significant service to the province, presented in Halifax by Lieutenant-Governor Arthur J. LeBlanc. Recipients represent Nova Scotians who have made divers contributions, particularly throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, as the medal honours those who have demonstrated an unwavering dedication to their professions and the well-being of the province. Over coming months, it will be awarded to 5,000 Nova Scotians nominated by MLAs, businesses, organizations and residents.

RHU water outage set for August 30

In support of a water valve replacement project, there is a requirement for a water outage Tuesday, August 30, between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m.; which will affect all residences on Rose Street (within the Residential Housing Units neighbourhood in Greenwood) and fire hydrants #346 and 348.

Water may appear cloudy or brown after restoration.

If so, flush your lines using the largest faucet (bathtub or laundry faucet) until the water runs clear.

WOOD, Rachelle Therese Greenwood, Nova Scotia

Wood, Rachelle Therese - Age 80 of South Greenwood, Kings Co., passed away on August 22, 2022, at the age of 80 in the Soldier's Memorial Hospital after a short battle with cancer. Rachelle was born in Hull, Quebec, to the late Oscar Labonte and Andree Bourgeois. Rachelle joined the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1960, where she met her loving husband, Eric Wood. They married in 1963 in St. Sylvestre, Quebec, where she then left the RCAF at a rank of Leading Air Woman. Rachelle and Eric then started their family and embarked on a long, happy marriage that took them to postings across Canada and the United States. Rachelle was an avid volunteer starting with the former Canadian Association for the Mentally Retarded. She was a coach for Kings County Special Olympics for over 15 years and could be found on track and field venues across Nova Scotia. Rachelle's special project was the Friendly Neighbour's Society which was founded in 1968 and registered as a charity in 1974. Rachelle joined the Society in 1992 and remained as secretary and an integral organizer until her passing. Rachelle and Eric spent countless hours making phone calls, reviewing applications, purchasing toys, food, and toiletries, and packing the thousands of Christmas hampers that were delivered over the years that she was part of this worthwhile cause. Rachelle was also Mrs. Santa Claus for several years at the major fundraising event for Friendly Neighbours - The Christmas Mommies and Daddies telethon. Rachelle's favourite place was in the kitchen cooking for family and friends. Her standard attire included an apron and from the moment she woke up in the morning, an apron was around her waist. The kitchen was her domain, and we were all often at the end of her stern warning: "get out of my kitchen!" She especially loved hosting holiday meals and these meals included more than just family. Those who might be alone for the holidays were often invited to share the table with her and her family, from single military men who had to work over the holidays, empty nesters whose family couldn't make it and even exchange students from Australia. The more people around her table, the happier she was. Rachelle had a special bond with her siblings, and while distance meant they would often get together only once a year or so, when they were together, they would often be laughing until long into the night - even they weren't allowed in her kitchen, although they always tried. Rachelle is survived by her loving husband, Eric Wood; sons, Michael (Anne), Kingston, Dennis, South Greenwood, Danny, Ontario; daughters, Christine Beck, Torbrook, Tracy (Graham) Walsh, South Greenwood; brother, Carole Labonte, Senneterre, Que.; sisters, Nicole Labonte, Rouyn-Noranda, Celine Labonte, Rouyn-Noranda, Suzanne Labonte, Val d'Or; grandchildren, Jaime Jesseau, Ryan Walsh & Danielle Wood. Visitation will be held from 2-4 p.m. Saturday August 27, 2022, in Middleton Funeral Home 398 Main St., toll free: 1-855-825-3448. A funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, August 29, 2022, at Queen of Heaven Chapel, 2 Church Street, Greenwood. Padre Elizabeth Shanahan officiating. There will be a livestreaming of the funeral beginning at 1:55 p.m. ADT. You may watch the service by selecting the "live stream" option at the top of the funeral home's website. Burial will take place in St. Lawrence Cemetery, Kingston. All are welcome to a reception being held at the R.C.A.F.A. in Greenwood from 3-6 p.m. Donations in memory can be made to the Kings County Special Olympics, Royal Canadian Legion Poppy Fund, or the charity of your choice. # Construction Engineering Project Exchange Program 2022 Canadian, US soldiers cross-train at 14 Wing worksite...

Second Lieutenant Meagan Duncan

The Construction Engineering Project Exchange Program (CEPEP) between Canadian Armed Forces and the United States Air Force (USAF) took place at 14 Wing Greenwood June 12 to July 23. More than 100 USAF engineers from 122 Civil Engineering Squadron (CES) in Indiana, 106 CES in New York and 131 CES in Missouri came in three two-week rotations to work on several projects around 14 Wing. The exchange provided an opportunity for planning, deploying and executing construction-related tasks, while fostering interoperability and positive relations between the two allies.

The CE teams managed to complete a large roofing project on Greenwood's Building 60, which houses the airfields and grounds workspace as well as the Cadets' summer HQ. The American engineers made progress on several other projects as well, including renovating a bathroom at the Queen of Heaven Chapel, building an airfield fuel testing facility and building a cannabis consumption shelter outside of accommodations, but they were unable to complete these three projects.

"It's typical that some projects go unfinished," says Captain Josh Cooke, exercise OPI.

There were two other "back up" projects also planned because, similar to home renovations, you never know what you might find or how long projects will take.

"Finishing the bathroom at the chapel is the top priority for us now," says Warrant Officer Pete Gofton, exercise OPI from Real Property Operations (RP Ops) Detachment (Greenwood). "It affects the wing and the public. The Americans got it 70 per cent done, but our crews are there finishing it now."

The chapel is approximately 100 years old, and the engineers encountered some surprises along the way. They needed to adapt and modify their plans – a valuable skill to take into any deployment.

RP Ops will also complete the cannabis consumption shelter.

"The Americans thought

2Lt M. Duncan

it was pretty funny that they were building a weed shack," Gofton says. The cannabis shelter has been dubbed "the bakery," and it is currently 25 to 30 per cent complete and temporarily on hold as RP Ops waits for supplies.

The airfield fuel testing facility is also waiting on parts for full completion. "The Americans did 50 to 60 per cent of it," Gofton says, detailing issues with supplies, design and working with inexperienced members here for the training experience.

In between all of the projects, the Americans did manage to fit in some time for fun during their time on base.

"We hosted a farewell barbecue for each rotation and an awards ceremony," Cooke says. "We played ball hockey and softball with them, and they planned some weekend trips into Halifax. They had some time to enjoy the province."

The third rotation ended up staying in Cornwallis due to a shortage of accommodations at 14 Wing, which gave them an unexpected opportunity to go whale watching.

Despite not completing all of the projects during the six-week deployment, working with the Americans on this exchange program was a success.

"We learned about how they work. We saw how their trades are similar to ours - but different," Gofton says. "It was a lot of fun, a lot of work and a lot of planning, but there's a lot of things we learned from this and things we'd do differently next time."

Captain Alex Hanrahan, Officer commanding, 91 Construction Engineering Flight

14 Construction Engineering Squadron (CES) was fortunate enough to be selected by A4CE to partake in the first Construction Engineering Project Exchange Program since the pandemic shut down most international training exercises. The program (DFTP - Deployment for Training Purposes in the US) enables Canadian Armed Forces and US Air National Guard units to cross train and learn from each other in an operational environment, while also providing useful facility improvements to a host base. The CEPEP ran from July 5 to 19.

In our case, we were hosted by the local engineering branch of the March Air Reserve Base, California, and were joined by the 107th Civil Engineering Squadron out of Niagara, New York. Once our two weeks in California was completed, we were replaced by CAF members from 3 Mission Support Squadron, Bagotville.

14 CES is made up of four flights - 91 Construction Engineering Flight in Gander, 192 CEF in Alder Grove, B.C.; 143 CEF in Bridgewater and 144 CEF in Pictou; so coordinating arrivals was an interesting challenge. Host units made six different airport pickups over two days, from two separate airports - before factoring in delays from canceled flights and the impacts of missing luggage. Some people didn't see their bags for nearly a week but, thankfully, the joining instructions stated to pack a uniform into a carry-on bag: we were able to get to work.

We were housed in hard shacks with bunk beds and a separate washroom facility that, after we cleared out the spiders, was pretty decent. Did you know you can find both black and brown widows in California? We quickly set about claiming the space and, once the correct flags were flying over the area, we felt right at home.

The main body of work we completed over the two weeks was the internal renovation of a flight preparation area: demo, framing, electrical, plumbing, ductwork, drop ceilings, plastering and a few other tasks. Essentially, we repurposed several rooms to bring them up to code and functional again. The base section we were working in was next to a highly secure area. In fact, during the initial walk through, a door was pointed out to us that led to an active runway: if any of our members used it, there would be a rapid armed response. We were very careful to go nowhere near that exit! It turned out the base flies Predator drones from that strip, so concerns were very valid.

We were invited to bring some of our mobile support equipment operators (heavy equipment operators) with us to gain experience on the Americans' large catalogue of vehicles, and they proved to be very useful for the second major project, the installation of a new washroom and sunshade area.

We met our project timings, so the members from both nations were free to explore the local surroundings. People made the most of the opportunity, with visits to several beaches, local points of interest and even to the USS Midway, a US Air Force Carrier converted into a floating museum.

14 CES commanding officer, Major Paul Morillo, was able to make it out to visit the squadron at work and see how the builds were progressing. At the end of his trip, he made several presentations to members and host unit personnel who had distinguished themselves during the exchange program.

During the two weeks of the CEPEP, all efforts were made to give each member an opportunity to cross train both within Canadian lines and with the US forces. The US forces use a tracking system, similar to our apprentice work journals, to follow what each person completed during each day. This was important, as it will help show what learning was accomplished by each member and will be used as justification for future training projects. At the conclusion of the trip, each member received their completed booklet to keep as a personal record of achievement.

The Construction Engineering Project Exchange Program was a successful exercise that, while requiring a large amount of coordination between multiple organizations, produced significant returns in cross training and unit integration, and even managed to significantly improve the facilities at the hosting base. The benefits for participating members cannot be overstated and, if anyone gets the chance to participate in a similar exercise, I highly recommend it. →

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

August 28 to September 3

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20

Listen to the people around you as well as your inner voice this week, Aries. With all the information at hand, you can make some difficult decisions with confidence.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21

Taurus, it may prove challenging to figure out where inspiration will come from next. Rather than seeking it out, wait for things to unfold more organically.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Gemini, do not be afraid to think outside the box this week. The stars are spurring you in a particular direction that could influence various components of your life.

CANCER - Jun 22/July 22

Ideas come from where you least expect them this week, Cancer. Keep your eyes wide open and pay attention to all conversations so you can be attuned to any clues.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23

Leo, seek the path not often taken this week, even if it seems long and winding. Sometimes the most direct way to go is not the easiest - even if it seems that way.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Virgo, you have a strong urge to start one project or another that can be used as a stepping stone to a promotion. Run your ideas by someone you trust.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Libra, big financial decisions are looming. A little restraint now can pay big dividends down the road. The rewards will be worth it.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

Scorpio, you can be effective and efficient when you're in your element. Others will attest to that this week after they see you in action. Enjoy the attention.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Sagittarius, professional motivation is easy to muster this week. Embrace your extra energy and put it to good use at work. Others will take notice.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Capricorn, let your emotions rather than your intuition guide you this week. That's not something you hear often, but it's for the best right now.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Aquarius, even though you have little to no work to do this week, the stars indicate you will be busy nonetheless. Enjoy any down time you can muster.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20

Few signs understand the importance of building a strong foundation as well as you, Pisces. Start crafting a new relationship this week.

The 14 Wing Greenwood Community Council recently judged its summer beautification contest for the Residential Housing Units neighbourhood. The council runs various events throughout the year, including a summer initiative to encourage and recognize all the work RHU residents put into making their house a home.

This summer's beautification effort was a huge success! The housing units were judged based on creativity, use of colour, variety and lawn maintenance. The judges were Master Corporal Sarah Comeau,

Chief Warrant officer Jamie Rideout and Corporal Logan Cardarelli. Winners in each ward were: Julie Custance (Ward 1), Tami and Warrant Officer Shawn Smith (Ward 2), Debra and Sergeant Kent Billingham (Ward 3), Captain Mary Cameron-Kelly (Ward

4), Elizabeth Lawrence (Ward 5), Dianne Mitchell (Ward 6). Congrats to all the winners and their beautiful gardens!

If you would like to find out more about the Community Council and its programs, or join the team, please contact Captain Mary Valair (mary.valair@forces.gc.ca).

The West Nova Scotia Regimental Association is pleased to mark the return of the WNSRRA Annual Reunion at Camp Aldershot September 9 to 11, after a few years off because of COVID-19.

Plan to attend the ever-popular and casual Friday night BBQ. An annual banquet and social evening is planned for Saturday, and Sunday will include an annual general meeting plus the WNSR memorial service and reception. WNSR Lieutenant-Colonel Mike Bobbitt and current regiment members support the regimental association, and are keen to do what they can to make this long-awaited reunion a tremendous success.

Organizers are planning for a safe reunion, and hope to support all individual attendee's health circumstances. The reunion will follow any public health, Canadian Armed Forces, Legion or other protocols in place for the venues used.

The regimental association is an active organization, preserving the past, supporting the present and preparing for the future. Current and former WNSR members are encouraged to join for the camaraderie, and to help support association projects that preserve the memory of soldiers and the history of the WNSR

RSVP to the WNSRRA reunion at wnsr.ca/ra. To become a WNSRRA member or renew your $30 membership, visit wnsr.ca/ra/docs. Follow the WNSRRA on Facebook at West Nova Scotia Regimental Association. Join an excellent group of 1,200 members - many of whom you probably know; the best regimental association in the Canadian Army Reserve.
